ALLEGAN, MICH. Picturesque in every sense of the word. A prosperous little city of 3,000 inhabitants, situated on the banks of the beautiful Kalamazoo river, the county-seat, with fine buildings and public spirited citizens, all of which goes to make an ideal home. Our little city is beautifully situated, being surrounded by hills, and some of the handsomest scenery to be found anywhere, as the many views in this book will prove.

As a Summer Resort Town, Allegan is fast coming to the front. A number of Resorts are being established along the shady banks of the Kalamazoo — and well patronized. The Inland Lakes, near our little city, together with the beautiful Kalamazoo River, furnish fine fishing and delightful camping.

Allegan is fortunate in having several manufacturing establishments of a high class (and room for more), together with the best of Railroad facilities. Allegan wants more factories and manfacturers desirous of making a change in their location, will find this an ideal spot. Our people are courteous and generous, and whether bent on pleasure or business you will always find the latch-string out, and a hearty welcome will greet you. Correspondence can be had with any party whose name appears in this book. The Mayor, City Clerk or the Publisher of this Book — all, and any of which, will receive very prompt replies.

The Chicago Rest — Frank Gross, Proprietor

The above picture shows one of the prettiest places on the Kalamazoo River, at which this Resort is located. Thirty acres of fine Pleasure Grounds, covered with large Shade Trees—surrounded by hills, and handsome Scenery. A small stream runs through the grounds, and the Bathing is fine and Fishing excellent. Fine Spring Water, on this place, has proven an excellent remedy in Kidney Troubles. Land High and Dry,
